

Global Supply Chain Solutions

Global Logistics Capability

Our logistics capability was refined and perfected during the 2003 to 2011 period of conflict in Afghanistan, Iraq and surrounding Middle East countries. When that conflict began, U.S. military presence in the region was virtually non-existent, and almost overnight, KBRwyle was called upon to support the more than initial 100,000 U.S. and coalition forces rapidly deploying into an active war zone. Troop numbers and mission requirements grew on a daily basis, reaching a peak of 220,000 in 2006. To meet contract demands, we mobilized our globally-experienced in-house supply chain management team to identify and enlist appropriate vendors; establish transportation routes; award subcontracts; and arrange freight consolidation and delivery into key warehouse locations in Iraq, Afghanistan, Jordan, Kuwait, Djibouti, Georgia, Uzbekistan, Turkey and numerous forward operating locations.

Our Supply Chain Methodology

Our experience, combined with our U.S. government-approved procurement and property management systems, positions us to provide an end-to-end enterprise supply chain solution. We can also augment client needs within any individual step or process within the overall continuum. KBRwyle has categorized our support for supply chain management and logistics activity into a series of six functional areas that are proven to align with U.S. DoD process expectations within which we are able to focus KBRwyle's expertise to optimize support:

Define Requirements and Demand Forecast

Comprehensive contract analysis to develop material or equipment parameters and requirements is a critical "front end" process to enable successful acquisition. It allows us to provide our clients with fit for purpose solution to any demand.

Procurement Planning and Requisitioning

Establishing project or task-specific procurement plans enable our specialized teams to generate accurate, timely requisitions for desired material, equipment or personnel.

Vendor Selection, Bidding and Award

KBRwyle leverages our U.S. government-approved procurement system to create a distinct competitive advantage. Key to this is our ability to navigate quickly through FAR-compliant procedures, vendor selection, generation of fair competition, and timely awards to fully-vetted and pre-evaluated suppliers.

Delivery and Transportation

KBRwyle uses our proven in-house suite of tools to identify and activate the best yet most cost-effective carriers available to meet delivery requirements — no matter what the mode, the urgency of the need, or the remoteness of the ultimate location.

Inventory Management

Knowing what is on hand — establishing ordering and re-ordering parameters, with attention to long lead delivery times — is a hallmark capability in our toolset. While supporting the Army's effort in Iraq, KBRwyle maintained 99.8% inventory accuracy on the largest property book which exceeded $4 billion.

Supplier Performance Assessment

KBRwyle is vigilant in monitoring, and managing supplier performance. Continual vendor performance assessment is critical to us successfully managing supply chain activities and delivering overall success of any project. This enhances our ability to generate accurate invoices, meet delivery windows; ship exactly what was ordered; and maintain price competitiveness.

Global Logistics Capability

KBRwyle has corporately-supported procurement centers located in each of the Combatant Command centers enabling us to augment our programs, projects, or site-based procurement activities with “home office” support to meet client needs and requirements. These internationally dispersed facilities are strategically located to leverage resources for response capability throughout the world. Our network of offices, working in tandem with our procurement centers, also serves to support rapid response times between award and mobilization; coordination with other agencies for quick responses; rapid mobilization of global workforce; expedited purchase of materials and equipment; provision of specialized services; cost and schedule control.

KBRwyle’s supply chain management follows your mission map – we get supplies where you go.

DoD focused alignment with combatant commands so we are pre-positioned to successfully support you.
